

2010 John W. (Jack) Sims Youth Challenge

Purpose: Create an ongoing program, known as the John W. (Jack) Sims Youth Challenge that will encourage youth involvement with Crabbet Arabian horses and reward them for their accomplishments.

Requirements: Open to any youth up to age 18 - the youth must have an adult mentor who is an ECAHS member. Any youth, who wishes to participate but does not know or have an ECAHS mentor, may contact the Challenge Committee and the Committee will assist the youth in finding an appropriate mentor.

Youth participants must develop a project plan, in writing, which they will submit to the John W. (Jack) Sims Youth Challenge Committee. The project must be age appropriate and include:

1. A Crabbet element or connection that will increase his/her knowledge of and interaction with Crabbet Arabians* and/or in some manner, impact and benefit the promotion and preservation of the Crabbet horse
2. A description of the project and the reason it was selected.
3. A project objective, how they plan to conduct the project and how they plan to use their experience with the project in the future to continue their involvement with Crabbet Arabians and ECAHS.

The project can entail research and a paper, documenting some task or objective involving people and/or horse(s), or some combination of both, the participant is only limited by his or her imagination (and may include the use of any medium, i.e., PowerPoint presentations, video, audio tapes, posters). The execution of the project plan must require a minimum of 30 hours effort on the part of the youth to complete. The project may involve the efforts and actions of other people, but the youth applicant must be the project director. The mentor for each youth should ensure that the plan is carried out as defined, but may not actually perform the activities required to complete the project.

The Youth Challenge Committee will review all submitted projects and may offer changes or suggestions. If the project is accepted by the Youth Challenge Committee, the youth will be awarded a one year youth membership in ECAHS and will have four (4) months in which to complete the project and submit a final report to the Youth Challenge Committee.

Included in the final report, the youth will be asked to state whether this project stimulated their continued interest and what they would like to accomplish next in their relationship with Crabbet horses. This statement will help the Youth Challenge Committee determine the nature of the award that would enable the winner or winners to keep pursuing their horse related dreams or goals.

Mentors are also required to participate with a written report on the level of commitment and quality of effort by the participant.

If the Youth Challenge Committee finds that the youth has satisfactorily completed their project, the youth will be awarded a completion prize appropriate to the youth and their project. If the Committee finds that the completion is lacking in some element they may encourage additional work or modification, and resubmission of the results.

All projects completed by July 31 of each calendar year will be divided between Juniors (ages 12 and Under) and Seniors (ages 13 through 19). Within each age group, the projects will be collectively evaluated on its merit, and the winning project in each group, will be awarded the John W. (Jack) Sims

Youth Challenge Junior/Senior Award for that calendar year, with the awards to be presented at the following Crabbet Celebration. The winners will also receive an additional prize appropriate to the project with a value of at least $100.

Two or more youth may enter a single project jointly, but the project will be judged based on its merit and not the number of youth participating, as a single project. The participants will choose which division, either Junior or Senior, the project will be placed in. Completion prizes will also be based on the project.

Timeline: Entries for 2010 must be submitted to the Youth Challenge Committee no later than April 15, 2010. The Youth Challenge Committee will review and approve projects no later than April 25, 2010.

All projects must be completed and submitted to the Youth Challenge Committee no later than July 31, 2010.
